

Lee Bowers 1 (with Frank)

FRANK
Excuse me, Mr. Bowers?

LEE BOWERS
Yes. Do I know you?

Frank does not do charm well. He 'charms' Lee Bowers.

FRANK
You the same Lee Bowers who testified to the Warren Commission?

LEE BOWERS
Yes that was me.

FRANK
Good. Good. Let me shake your hand. You're helping us put away the man who shot the President.

LEE BOWERS
It wasn't a man, it was a buncha guys in beige jackets. They came out of a big crowd who were choking on the smoke from all those rifles. Such chaos.

FRANK
Nice. Sure. Sure. Do not change a word. You are a hero.

Louie hands the money envelope to Frank. They nod at each other. As Frank pushes the envelope towards Bowers he grabs his left arm and pushes through Frank and Louie. Lee begins to go through the stages of having a massive heart attack but focuses on leaving the bar to get to his car.

Frank and Louie watch as he exits.
